Practice Scorecard: Measure up the “New Normal”
The new normal is driven by the changing landscape of dentistry with economic downturn, increased number of dental providers, existing practitioners working longer, corporatization, public sophistication and urban center saturation.
The new normal is that “now is not the time to be complacent” thinking the way you built the practice in the past is going to be the way today. It’s a must for your practice to assess how you are doing in some key metrics and how you may compare to benchmarks of success that are tried and true. Awareness is the first step and this discussion will guide you through areas to measure the health of your office team, patient and business to support knowledge to create a plan to assure the future is better and growth is happening.

Sandi Humphrey, Board Know How – “Upping the game for the NSDA” Associations: What Sets the Best in Class Associations Apart from the Others!
Sandi L. Humphrey, CAE, is Canada’s most prolific author on association governance and management. In 2017 she will be working with the NSDA to help staff, elected volunteers on council and committees to “up their game”. Her discussion at the June AGM will challenge the membership to think differently about the Nova Scotia Dental Association, and partner with Governing Council to face the challenges before us.
